MR. ROYSTER ASSIGNS.

Mr. M. Royal Farrar is Named as Assignee.

The numerous friends of Mr. Geo. H. Royster will regret to learn that he has found it necessary to make an assignment for the benefit of his creditors.

The deed of assignment was filed this morning and names Mr. M. Royal Farrar as assignee. There are a number of preferred creditors, both of the first and second class. It is thought that the assets will more than cover the liabilities.

Mr. Royster is one of our best citizens, and has many friends who deeply sympathize with him in his financial embarrassment, and hope that it is only temporary. We hope soon to see the business flourishing again under the name of Geo. H. Royster.

SHOULD PREACHERS TEACH?

A Colored Minister Replies to "Many Citizens."

Editor Telegram:

While we regret to learn that the "Many Citizens" are hostile to the appointment of ministers as principals of the Graded schools, the writer is not surprised. For there are very few things that the many citizens desire to see the ministers obtain.

They do not want to see them live in a respectable place, nor have sufficient comfort where they do live. Neither do they want to see them exert a wide influence over the masses of the people. Yet the ministers are the best set of men the race has and should help to mould the sentiment of each community. Though there be some amongst them unworthy of the name.

We have no regard for that sentence which says "the representative men do not want ministers in our Graded school." For these representative men are too weak-kneed to dictate the policy of their town or to shape the destiny of a struggling race, but when it comes to opposing a minister who tries to make an honest living they are at home. The writer is aware that the college doors close behind thousands of trained teachers each year, but all who take the course are not adapted to teaching. It strikes the writer that it might be a good thing for these "Many Citizens" to open up new enterprises for the recruits and cease dictating to the board of education, while they hoard up their earnings as though though they might take wings.

The ministers are sincere in their efforts to induce the race to imitate the best model of our age and time. Imitate them in every respect. Don't put your ministers in an ice box and expect them to sweat. The writer thinks that the preachers prepare their sermons and impart religious instruction about as well as you support them. "Poor pay begets poor preach." There is one pastor in our town who has not received more than $18.00 a month for the last six months, and another who has received still less, and it is probable that some of these "Many Citizens" have paid less than $3 in as many years. Therefore if the preachers prepare themselves let them have a show.

Vox populi ne semper vox Dei est.

Why Interference is Improbable.

The American newspapers are wasting a good deal of ink in discussing the question whether any of the European great powers are likely to interfere in their war with Spain and speculating on what would be our attitude were this the case. They may rest certain that no European power has ever dreamed of imposing terms of accommodation on one or other of the belligerents, while all or any would be ready if asked, to act as a medium of negotiation with a view to peace. The object of modern diplomacy, when a war arises between two great nations, is to localize it, and to prevent its spreading. In the first Italian war between France and Italy, which resulted in the loss to the latter of Lombardy, in the Austro German war, and in the Franco-Prussian war, the struggle was localized by neutrals acting on this principal of non-interference. All that is written about some powers wanting to interfere on behalf of Spain and our insisting that such interference must not take place, is mere journalistic myth.—London Truth.

Not in the Fight.

Mr. Editor—Having seen in the columns of your paper a protest against the appointment of preachers as principals and teachers of the colored graded schools of this city signed "Many Citizens," I as one of the clergy wish to say that I am pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church and have never sought a position at the hands of the county. I have always found enough to do in my parish. I am not in the fight.

Respectfully,

P. J. Jordan.

BATTLE EXPECTED HOURLY.

Thirty Thousand Troops Gone to Santiago and San Juan.

PRESIDENT'S PROGRAM OUTLINED

Schley's Report Received—Rumored That Fleet Has Forced Entrance.

Fitz Lee to Porto Rico.

Any doubt that may have existed as to the purpose of the administration to occupy Santiago is now dissipated. Sampson has been ordered to join Schley and assume command which he is said to have done on yesterday. There is a rumor that the combined squadrons again attacked the fortifications of Santiago yesterday but the rumor lacked confirmation up to this morning. It is probable however that an attack will be made immediately and troops who should have arrived by this time will be landed under fire of the ships to form a junction with Garcia. The main reason for attacking Santiago before Havana is, of course, the capture or destruction of the squadron now in the harbor. Another reason is that Spain is expected to sue for peace immediately upon the fall of Havana and it is desired that the United States hold as much territory as possible before that transpires. For this reason also it appears that Porto Rico and the Philippines will be occupied before a move is made on Havana.

ARMY OF INVASION OFF.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washinfiton, June 3—Despite all official denials there is the highest authority for the statement that troops to the number of thirty thousand are now en route to Santiago de Cuba and San Juan de Porto Rico. They embarked yesterday but whether from Tampa and were halted at Key West or whether they embarked at Mobile or some other coast point can not be definitely learned at this writing. Transports were in waiting at several coast cities and troops may been embarked on all forming a junction after putting to sea in order to mislead the Spanish spies. Though despatches inspired by the war department deny the sailing of troops the denial is contrary to positive information obtained from other sources. It is known beyond dispute that the administration is expecting a battle to occur within the next twenty four hours.

General Shafter is undoubtedly in command of the expedition sent to Santiago. General Lee is in command of the expedition for Porto Rico. General Miles will command an army of 100,000 men that will invest Havana after the other expeditions have landed and secured themselves so that the warships can be spared to convoy the main army.

GENERAL OTIS RECEIVES ORDERS.

San Francisco, June 3—Orders were issued by the war department late last night to prepare the Colorado and Pennsylvania troops to start for the Philippines next Tuesday. This order was the cause of an early stir among the troops this morning. It is expected that several other regiments of troops will accompany him.

ANOTHER APPEAL.

London, June 3—It is announced here today that Spain has addressed another appeal to the powers to intervene.

IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

New York, June 3—The cruiser St. Paul came into port this morning and anchored at Thompkinsville. She is in splendid condition apparently, and is not damaged in the slightest degree.

SPANISH PRISONERS RELEASED.

New York, June 3—Thirty-nine Spanish prisoners, who were captured with the Spanish steamship Rita off Porto Rico, arrived here this morning. The prisoners were released and turned over to the Austrian consul for shipment to Spain.

PLENTY OF FOOD.

Madrid, June 3—The captain general of Porto Rico telegraphs that no anxiety is felt in regard to the supply of food on the part of the population. Several ships have recently landed cargoes.

CORRESPONDENTS RELEASED.

Havana, June 3—The newspaper correspondents Whigham and Robinson, who were captured on Cuban soil while landing from a yacht, were released this morning owing to representatives made by British Consul Gallan.

PURELY SENSATIONAL.

Paris, June 3—A correspondent of Gaulois, at Madrid, declares he has learned that Admiral Cevera has never been in Santiago harbor and that he is now approaching the Philippines.

FORCED THE HARBOR.

Madrid, June 3—The Pels says that it is rumored that the Americans have forced the entrance to Santiago de Cuba.

REVIEWING THE ARMY.

Chickamauga, June 3—A two days review of the volunteer army encamped here began today.

SIGSBEE GONE TO WASHINGTON.

New York, June 3—Captain Sigsbee of the cruiser St. Paul left here for Washing today.

URGED THE QUEEN TO YIELD.

London, June 5—The Pope again urges the queen of Spain to yield and end the war. It is not thought that his urgent request will have any effect until a decisive battle has been fought.

OFFICIAL REPORT RECEIVED.

Washington, June 3—The official report of Commodore Schley has been received concerning the Santiago fight. He says he has no doubt that Cervera's fleet is in the harbor.

PRESIDENT'S PROGRAM.

New York, June 3—A Washington special to the Evening Journal says the president today outlined his plans to the cabinet as follows: Sufficient troops will be sent to Santiago to secure the capture of the town and the destruction of the fleet by a land and sea attack. Santiago will then be made the seat of the military and civil government of the Cuban republic. A bombardment and land attack will be made simultaneously on San Juan de Porto Rico and a sufficient force left there to hold the island. It is believed these operations will practically end the war.

SANTIAGO BEING BOMBARDED

The Ball Opened Before Nine O'Clock This Morning.

INSURGENTS ASSISTING BY LAND

Cable Office Abandoned—The Vesuvous Opening the Channel—Four Thousand Troops on Way.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM

New York, June 3—A special cablegram to the New York Tribune from Port-au-Prince Hayti says that the news has reached there that Sampson and Schley appeared off Santiago de Cuba this morning and re-opened fire on the forts at the entrance. The engagement began before nine o'clock and was still in progress when the cablegram was sent.

THE WORLD'S REPORT.

New York, June 3—The World correspondent at Port-au-Prince sends a special cablegram saying that the bombardment of Santiago has been resumed. No particulars of the engagement could be had at the time. Cable communication with the island is uninterrupted and the fact that no responses have been received to the cablegrams of inquiry sent is attributable either to an order forbidding those receiving them to respond or the people are too excited to answer. It is probable that orders have been issued not to allow news to reach the United States.

THE CITY BESIEGED.

San Domingo, June 3—The city of Santiago de Cuba is besieged by the insurgents under Garcia acting in cooperation with the United States squadron.

WASHINGTON BEHIND AS USUAL.

Washington, June 3—No news has been received here of a resumption of the fighting at Santiago. The reported land attack of the insurgents is believed to be unfounded.

WORK FOR THE VESUVIUS.

New York, June 3—A Washington special to the Journal states that the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius will be used to destroy the mines in the channel at the entrance of the Santiago harbor and thus clear a way for the entrance of the American fleet. The cruiser Cincinnati has been sent north on some mysterious mission.

ARRIVES AT NORFOLK.

Norfolk, June 3—The Cincinnati reached the navy yard here at ten o'clock this morning, probably to undergo slight repairs though she appears alright outwardly.

FIRST INVADING DIVISION.

Washington, June 3—It is learned this morning that four thousand troops made up the first division of the army of invasion destined for Santiago de Cuba. The division left Tampa day before yesterday under the convoy of powerful warships. The second division is preparing to follow as quickly as possible.

SANTIAGO STRONGLY FORTIFIED.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 3—No news from Santiago has been received up to noon today. In the first attack the flagship Brooklyn was ordered to stand off shore and locate the various batteries. The fleet starting 7,000 yards from the shore, moved swiftly toward the harbor entrance, opening on the forts and the Cristobal Colon as they approached. The latter was struck twice instead of once as was at first reported. The entire set of forts opened fire but ineffectively. Some of the modern guns were well aimed. Commodore Schley occupied a position near the forward turret on the Massachusetts and calmly watched the enemy's forts through his glasses. The Americans fired four rounds from their heavy guns. It is evident that Santiago is well fortified, having a number of modern guns using smokeless powder. It will require a heavy bombardment to reduce the forts and dislodge the Spanish fleet.

SAW NO SAIL.

Key West, June 3—A despatch boat has just completed a sail around Cuba report that it did not see a sail after leaving the blockading squadron. It sailed in sight of land continuously.

Carried Back to Georgia.

Mary Davenport an escaped convict from Augusta, Ga., who was traced up and arrested in this city yesterday by Policeman Weatherly, was carried back to Georgia this morning by Officer E. Collins, of Augusta, who arrived last night in search of her.

THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

Senators Jones and Teller Speak to the Question.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, June 3—During the consideration of the war revenue bill today Senator Jones said he thought the revenue features of the bill should be passed before the bond provision was taken up. He predicted that the first year of the war would cost the government seven hundred million dollars. Senator Teller opposed haste in considering the war revenue bill. He says the treasury has ample funds for the present and that there will be no embarrassment before July first. The coinage of the seignorage came in for a share of the discussion. Senator Wolcott offered an amendment compelling the coinage of not less than $4,000,000 a month.

Meaning of Morro Castle.

Many persons are wondering that there is a "morro castle" at Havana and a fort of similar name at Santiago as well as one of that name at San Juan, Porto Rico. The explanation is that the Spanish word morro means "anything round; or projecting over an eminence; an overhanging like of a precipice;" a high headland looking towards the sea. Here, naturally a fort would be placed if there was a city near by to be defended and hence the association of the name with any Spanish fortification placed on an elevated harbor-guarding eminence.—Asheville Citizen.

EXPANSION AS AN ISSUE.

It has been nearly half a century now since the foreign policy of this government has been made a paramount or even a prominent issue in national politics. Politically the nation has been occupied during all this time with questions of internal economy arising largely from the attempts of a young and raw state to adjust itself to the ever varying conditions of a phenomenal commercial and territorial growth. These problems are by no means all settled; they are still insistent, but not necessarily so to the exclusion of others.

The political prophet therefore who would attempt to lay down the issue of battle in 1900 upon strictly old lines needs to have a care. There has come within the past few months, even weeks, a wonderful national awakening, a sensitiveness among the masses to eventualities that before troubled the minds of statesmen only, a dawning sense that when the smoke of battle shall have lifted there must come a readjustment on the part of the nation, not to internal but to external conditions. It will also be grasped that in that adjustment will lurk deep dangers and matters of policy of the utmost weight and moment.

These questions are as yet hazy and indistinct but long before the sunrise of the new century the present conflict with Spain will be bravely over and these now obscure problems will loom clearly, demanding not ultimate but immediate solution. To expect that there will be unanimous agreement upon any one solution is to break rather harshly with the wisdom of experience. There is likely to be an issue about which men will hold, and hold very tenaciously, quite opposite opinions.

The issue, taken by far and large, will be: Shall we or shall we not adopt a policy of territorial expansion? Undoubtedly it furnishes the material and will probably be the occasion of a warm political battle.

It is a question of policy which involves such minor yet important questions as the creation of a powerful navy, the maintenance of a much larger standing army, the practical abandonment of the Monroe doctrine, the construction and control of the Nicaragua canal, the alliance with England and an active participation in the keen competition for and voracious absorption of foreign territory by the great powers of Europe.

It is not to be expected that the men whose opinions and interests square with the old order of things will yield quietly or peaceably to the introduction of the new. There may even come, to a large extent, a realignment of parties. To such a result the present chaotic state of American politics would largely contribute. The fight therefore in 1900 may be between the expansionists and anti-expansionists, between those who would project the colossal power of the United States into the field of turbulent international politics, keeping what the fortunes of war may bring us and grasping for more, and those who would keep the nation to the old but safe and peaceable policy of isolation and the Monroe doctrine.

That we shall as a people be called upon to choose between these two lines policy is not conjectural or contingent; it is certain; it is worth while then to consider both sides before the heat of political strife and partisan prejudice shall render such cousideration impossible.

The order of the war department to recruit the volunteer companies up to 106 men after having accepted them at 84 is a sample of the blundering and clumsy way in which the war has been conducted from the beginning. If the department had said 106 men in the first place nobody would have turned a word; now when most of the companies are a thousand or so miles from home the order is issued to hold up the invasion of Cuba until captains can send home for men enough to fill their companies up to the new requirement. A more asinine piece of business even Spain can not produce. Having officered the soldiers largely with the sons of men whose bank accounts are mighty in political campaigns and hurried them to the front in winter uniforms or none at all, and with guns thirty years out of date, the department suddenly concludes to let them fume and broil in a Florida sun while the companies are reorganized. Meantime every man who does not see fit to have raptures over the spineless half-heartedness of Mr. McKinley and the weathercock tactics of Mr. Alger is "unpatriotic."

What ever reports may be cabled to Madrid the Spanish gunners know the results of the American fire and if it be anything like so destructive as reported the moral effect on the Spanish army is well worth all the powder burned. The first step toward whipping the enemy is to make him afraid and the reports of the Santiago fight show that he manifested some trepidation. The Spanish private has not any too much heart in his work to begin with and banging stonewalls about his ears will not give him fresh courage.

John R. Smith, the head of the Agricultural department, has been working on double time this year.—Col. Olds' Correspondence.

John R. Smith always works on double time: He does one day's work for the state and one for John R. Smith each twenty-four hours. It was his exhuberant activity in the latter direction that is now depriving the convicts of strawberries and cream, and John R. Smith.

There are quivering night caps in Boston town, there are quaking souls in Bath; from Martha's Vineyard to Lubec the chill east wind is the hot breath of direst menace; every booming, blooming breaker is a bursting bomb and every twinkling star a Spanish searchlight seeking a vital spot in Kennebunk or Passadumkeag. The Columbia is in dry dock and Plymouth Rock is undefended.

The failure of the administration to appoint Mr. H. H. Kohsaat, of the Chicago Times-Herald, to be commissary general in the army is a conspicuous neglect of obvious talent. It is a slur upon Mr. Kohsaat's restaurants that may be of inestimable harm to the Times-Herald.

A Peculiar Spot.

The "State of Wilkes" comes to the front with another freak. A white ground squirrel was recently captured on a spot which is peculiar. The Chronicle says it is a graveyard spot, and it is an actual fact that the blackberries that grow thereon are all white. The trees are all white oak and white pine. A few years ago a white rabbit was found there, and there are white rats there. The spot seems to possess peculiar qualities.—Winston Sentinel.

So Tired! So Tired!
Chronic Dyspepsia!
For ten years I had been a severe sufferer from chronic dyspepsia, which was pronounced incurable. I was completely run down, and in the summer season was not able to do anything and spent a great part of the time lying down. I could not touch meat of any kind, or any solid food whatever, as I could not digest it at all and had to live on crackers and light diet. I was very nervous, would have severe nervous spells, and could not get any oatural sleep, I was so restless. I suffered all the time from chronic dysentery, which kept me weakened down. That was my condition when I determined as a last resort to try Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. I had tried so many treatments and so many patent medicines without benefit that I had no faith in anything and had almost made up my mind not to try another thing, when Mrs. Person came to my house last April and induced me to try her Remedy. I bought ½ dozen bottles. Felt no relief whatever until I was on the fourth bottle, when I knew I was getting better. I became stronger, got so I could sleep well and there was no necessity for me to lie down in the day time. I took twenty-two bottles before I stopped. My digestion is now perfect, and I can eat meat, vegetables, and anything else I want, and as much as I want. When I commenced the Remedy I weighed 98 pounds, now I weigh 115 pounds. Dysentery perfectly cured, and it is all owing to Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. It is everything claimed for it.

DANA AS AN EDITOR.

He Was Very Punctilious as to Typographical Details.

In all matters of detail, in literary manner, in the use of words, in grammar, punctuation and typographical method he was the most careful and exacting of editors. One time an editorial contained two lines of poetry in type of the same size as that of the text, and, as I was the author of it, Mr. Dana sent me an edifying note under the familiar signature, "Reason, Revelation, Science, Philosophy and Esthetics all require that these lines should have been put in small type." Upon another occasion, when he thought a verb had been improperly used in a manuscript, he wrote an admonitory sentence, "To say 'there are' in this passage would be unpoetic and consequently disgusting."

He took the blame whenever an error escaped his eye. "I take shame to myself," he wrote one time when the author of an editorial had confounded Boston brown bread with Graham bread, "for having printed this thing without scrutinizing it. The Sun is ignorant and wrong."

One day a man in California had sent an inquiry to the editor of The Sun, "Will you please tell me how to become a Christian?" and as I often dealt with religious questions at the time this appeal was received Mr. Dana blue penciled the back of the man's note with these words: "Why not give him a ripping answer? Give him the socialist side of Christianity."

When the writer of a book review had italicized eight or ten of his words, Mr. Dana commented thus: "This review is the best in the whole lot and is very good, but why in the world an experienced writer like —— wants to pepper his manuscript with nasty little italics I can't imagine."

When the writer of an editorial paragraph in The Sun wrote of "Govs. Cameron and Crittenden," the ever watchful critic in the sanctum got after him in a note left for me: "The term 'govs.,' 'gens.,' 'capts.,' etc., is disgusting. The titles have no plural as attached to any individual name. They should be repeated, or a circumlocution should be used."

In an editorial article printed in brevier type there had appeared an extract in agate type. The grammatical subject of a sentence was in brevier, while the verb for it was in the subsequent agate line. Mr. Dana wrote for my benefit: "This passage from big type to little is contrary to all sound principles of typographical elegance. Greeley used to make the passage and country newspapers still make it, but it is wicked."

When a writer for The Sun once described a man as "too condemn smart," the phrase was highly offensive to Mr. Dana, who wrote a caustic comment upon it in three words, which need not be here printed.—John Swinton in Chautauquan.

SPAIN'S CROWN JEWELS.

Brought to America by the Secretary of Joseph Bonaparte.

"In 1817 Joseph Bonaparte's secretary, Maillard, left Philadelphia armed with letters which represented him to be a traveling agent for Girard's commercial house and visiting Girard's correspondents in Holland and Switzerland," William Perrine writes of "When the King of Spain Lived on the Banks of the Schuylkill" (in Philadelphia) in The Ladies' Home Journal. "His real destination was the Swiss chateau at Prangins, from which the king had fled two years before, and his real object to secure the treasure which had been buried in the ground of the estate on the eve of his flight. Maillard found the buried packets, and with them he would also have brought to Philadelphia Queen Julie if her physicians had not compelled her to renounce the project of joining her husband.

"The jewels, which were valued at $1,000,000, were stuffed into a belt, which Maillard wore on his person when returning across the Atlantic, and with which he was gladly received by his master in the Lansdowne house, near Philadelphia. It was about this time that wild rumors began to circulate in Philadelphia concerning the exking's riches and of the hoards of specie which he had deposited in the vault of Stephen Girard's Philadelphia bank. Mysterious heavy boxes, sealed with wax, were believed by Girard's clerks to contain the crown jewels of Spain and Naples. One or two old men in recent years, who were then among those clerks, have told how Joseph would sit in the bank talking with them affably while waiting for the great banker."

A Dry Bath.

A Scotchman was once advised to take shower baths. A friend explained to him how to fit up one by the use of a cistern and colander, and Sandy accordingly set to work and had the thing done at once. Subsequently he was met by the friend who had given him the advice, and, being asked how he enjoyed the bath, "Man," said he, "it was fine! I liked it rale weel, and kept mysel' quite dry too." Being asked how he managed to take the shower and yet remain quite dry, he replied, "Dod, ye dinna surely think I was sae daft as stand below the water without an umbrella!"—London Answers.

Cause and Effect.

"Say, I haven't seen you at the club for a fortnight. What's the matter?"

"Just now I'm staying at home a good deal."

"Really?"

"Yes. My wife is visiting her parents."—Gaulois.

The largest bell in France has been hung in the belfry of the Church of the Sacred Heart in Paris. It weighs 35 tons, can be heard at a distance of 25 miles, and its vibration lasts six minutes.

Doing is the great thing, for if resolutely people do what is right in time, they come to like doing it.—Ruskin.

General News in a Nutshell.

The people of Honolulu are under the impression that our army for the invasion of the Philippines, which they believe consists of 10,000 men, will spend at least twenty-four hours in that city enroute to Manila. One of the local papers figures up that during their stay the troops will buy 7,000 gallons of beer, 15,000 cigars 3,000 bunches of bananas and a large quantity of pineapples, and that each man will spend at least $3 for curios.

A Sowego, Mich., paper recently mixed an account of a railway casualty with an undertaker's advertisement so that the item appeared in the following shape:

"While Jerome Townsend was walking along the track of the South Shore railroad last Tuesday evening about dusk he was struck by switch engine No. 3.

"Usually coffin trimmings are very expensive but in this case they are amazingly cheap. ptofg."

The Atlanta Constitution reports that a woman who visited headquarters at Tampa to inquire for her soldier husband was heard to remark as she left: "Well ef he thinks I'm goin' to be livin' in this suspense he's mighty mistook! Ef he's killed he orter write an' say so, an' ef he's livin' he orter write, anyhow! As it is, thar is John Jeems a-settin' roun' my house day after day, waitin' fer me ter say the word, an' me not knowin' whether I'm a widder or jest a poor, lonely, forsook wife that needs comfortin'! This here gover'ment is about as slow as pine sap in the springtime!"

That American-made wheels have found favor in other countries is attested by the fact that the value of bicycles and parts of bicycles exported from the United States in March, 1898, was $958,729. The increase for the twelve months ending April 1 over the preceding year was $353,373.

POPULAR WRITERS.

Personal Notoriety Has Little to Do With an Author's Success.

Personal publicity, the sort that comes from the distribution of biographical details and the publication of likenesses, may be commercially useful to some purveyors of public entertainment, but it seems probable that there has been an overestimation of its value to the makers of books. One of the most popular books ever written was "Alice In Wonderland." Its distribution must have been enormous and doubtless it still goes vigorously on, but who had ever seen a likeness of the man who wrote it? When Dr. Dodgson died the other day and the newspapers told who he was and what title he had to be held in grateful memory, thousands of his debtors identified him for the first time as Lewis Carroll, the author of the inimitable stories that are almost as familiar to contemporary children as "Mother Goose." Dr. Dodgson liked peace and a quiet life and very cordially disliked notoriety. Like many wise people, he found great pleasure and recreation in the companionship of nice children, and for their amusement he concocted two of the queerest and most original and delightful books that ever were written. But he never considered that merely because his books became famous there was any need that he should become famous too.

No modest author need hesitate to produce a masterpiece or even a popular novel (which need not be a masterpiece and usually isn't one) for fear that his success will involve the sacrifice of a reasonable privacy. His book must be published if its worth is to be fairly tested, but that he should be published, too, is not at all indispensable. If he chooses not to have his likeness run in the advertising columns of the newspapers, he can keep it out, and his book won't suffer; if he prefers that his personal idiosyncrasies and circumstances should not be discussed, that, too, can be accomplished in great measure without much trouble. The only things the public absolutely requires from writers in exchange for its favors are ideas and good writing. Everything else is thrown in and may in most cases be easily and safely withheld.—"The Point of View" in Scribner's.

Those of Uncle Sam's volunteers who think $13 per month is small pay may find consolation in the knowledge that the common soldier in Russia receives three rubles per annum—about $2.25. The day rations consists of two pounds of suchary, which is a very coarse kind of bread made of cracked rye, baked hard at first, then cut into small pieces and further dried in a heated oven; a small quantity of salt, and some soup.

A dog belongining to a citizen of Bloomfield, N. J., was painted red, white and blue by mischievous persons the other day, but the patriotic owner of the canine took the prank good-naturedly. After the animal had been cleansed with infinite pains, however, and had appeared the next day in a coat of vivid green, the owner became righteously indignant and he has offered a reward of $50 for the detection of the scoundrel.

INTERESTING MEETINGS

Of the Woman's Board of Missions of M. E. Church South.

The Woman's Board of Missions of the Southern Methodist church now in session here is a remarkably fine and representative body. What impresses one most is that it is a body of women who are thoroughly in earnest, thoroughly acquainted with the work in hand and who go about it in a thoroughly business-like way. The body is well represented, the only members absent being those from the Pacific slope and far west. The ladies of the West Market street church are entertaining the delegates in their usual handsome manner. Luncheon will be served at church each day.

Last night the first public service of the board was held. Mrs. M. D. Wightman, of Charleston, president of the board, opened the meeting with scripture reading and a short address and Mrs. Wilson led in prayer. Afterward the various members of the board gave their experiences as missionary workers in that capacity. The talk of Mrs. Park, of Texas, oldest member of the board was especially touching.

Most of the delegates had already arrived but some came in on the trains last night.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock the first business meeting of the board was held. The main feature of the session was an address by Bishop Galloway on woman's work in Brazil. Bishop Galloway is only recently returned from Brazil where he made a comprehensive investigation of the needs of the field and of the work of the missionaries of his church. This was followed by an address by Rev. Mr. Tucker who has been actively in the missionary work in Brazil and is now home on vacation.

In the afternoon the attention of the board was occupied with the meetings of the various committees and some addresses.

Tonight occurs the regular anniversary meeting of the board and the addresses of welcome and response. Mrs. L. H. Robertson will deliver the address of welcome in behalf of the ladies of West Market Street Church and Mrs. S. Malone, of Missouri, will respond in behalf of the board.

Afterward Mrs. M. D. Wightman, president of the board will deliver her annual address and the reports of the secretary and treasurer will be read.

Unexaggeration

Probably there is no temptation so illusory, so insistent and so perilous that can beset a business house, as the seeming advantage to be derived from exaggeration.

Extravagance of statement seems to be palatable. It is entertaining; it flatters, it captivates, but it is self-deceiving.

The quickest and most certain way in which we can point out its danger is to call your attention to the fact that exaggeration once begun, knows no limit. Where is it going to stop? Today the exaggerator must tell a bigger, stronger story than yesterday; tomorrow, a bigger, stronger one than today, and so it goes on.

Beside being untrue, and invalid, and conveying a wrong impression, it is weak, cowardly and mean to exaggerate; while its being utterly unnecessary and thoroughly disreputable, goes without saying.

Nearly everyday we go to the public with business assertions, grounded upon our character, watched by our reputation. It is absolutely impossible for one of those assertions to contain a particle of exaggeration. They have merchandise quality to vouch for them, and our quality to hold them to their pledges. Hence, if you have any occasion, at any time, to illustrate an argument that the principle and policy of sterling truth make the most successful business, you can point to us and point to our doings and sayings as proof.

We have been rushed the entire week with eager buyers. The same

Delightful "Hay Ride."

About a dozen couples of young people gave a "hay ride" complimentary to visiting friends, from this city to Guilford College last night. Leaving the city about 8:30 o'clock in two mammoth wagons the party spent a couple of hours in delightful social converse at the college, where they were entertained by the Misses Lindley. They returned to the city about one o'clock this a. m., and declared the trip "just lovely." Bright moonbeams lighted the way; it was dangerous, nevertheless, as Cupid does some awfully good shooting in the moonlight.

We Were Misinformed.

In an item in this paper yesterday stating that Aunt Fanny Bumpass had never attended a meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions, and that the meeting was brought here to give her the opportunity we were evidently misinformed. A friend now tells us she had not missed a meeting in several years. We are sure our informant was honestly in error, as there surely lives no one who would do the sainted Mrs. Bumpass an injustice. It was her desire to have the meeting held in Greensboro, and from this the impression probably grew.

Encourges Idleness.

The example of some people, who get up early in the morning and sit on the postoffice stone fence as long as it is shady, chew tobacco and spit on the sidewalk to the annoyance of passers-by is an encouragement to idleness and does not promote prosperity. Doesn't this practice come under the provisions of the vagrant law?

Will Mark a New Era.

The new and handsome depot which the Southern will build and the new city park now being considered by the board of aldermen and which they have voted to establish will be the beginning of a new era of prosperity for the city.
